A Conspicuous Improvement

One who has been absent from Campbell for the past two months, would upon returning, note at once the many changes that have taken place in that length of time. But no change would be more conspicious than the one made on the corner of Campbell and Harrison Avenues. The artistic effect of the structure at first attracts the eye and when upon closer inspection "B O Curry Building" is seen to be the name, one can but give praise to the man who has added so much to the beauty of "Campbell City", as one of the conductors is pleased to call it. The building is equiped with all the modern conveniences and is a most suitable place for the new and up to date Post Office, which is now housed within its walls, making happy those who do duty for the government as well as those to whom they minister.

The new store patiently awaits an occupant. The corner office with its new appointments is a picture well worth looking upon, the three-globe electrolier in front and the beautiful emblem of the Nation floating on high telling us from which direction the breezes blow and reminding us of our freedom and proclaims to us the progressive spirit of the owner.

Laugh and Grow Fat

"Among the Breakers," a Laugh Producer, to Be Presented at the Coffee Club Saturday Night

This play is one of Geo. Baker's most popular comedys, and is well adapted to amateur production. There is a good plot that keeps the audience interested and the comedy is bright and plenty of it. The young people have been working hard to make this a success and are deserving of your patronage. This is a benefit for the Epworih League, the money to be used in helping to pay off their pledge on the new church. Remember the date. Saturday night, March 2nd. Cast of characters:

Down From Alaska

Mr. C. C. Mespelt of Iditarod, Alaska, is here on a visit to his sister Mrs. A. B. Chamberlin. Mr. Mespelt has been in Alaska a number of years and at the time of the discovery of gold in the Iditarod district was one of the first men over the trail, securing some good claims. Mr. Mespelt left Iditarod in November after navigation on the river had closed for the season, and had a 500 mile walk to get a ship to Seattle. He expects to return to that country in June.

Mothers' and Teachers' Club

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the mothers of Campbell at the school house Wednesday afternoon, about 50 of the ladies being present, and a Mothers' and Teachers' Club was organized and officers were elected as follows:

President—Miss Vinyard.
Secretary—Mrs. R. Alison.
Treasurer—Mrs. Ethel Davis.

Miss Margaret Schallenberger of the State Normal School addressed the new club on the "Interdependence of the Home and the School." She said that she knew more about children than the parents, as where they had trained not more than 10 or 12 she had the training of thousands of children. Her address was very interesting and instructive throughout. After the address an interesting program was presented which displayed the thorough training the pupils recieve from our competent teachers. Following is the program: A short address of welcome by the principal, Mr. Graves.

Death Calls Margaret Fablinger

One of Campbell's Most Highly Esteemed Young Women Laid to Rest Last Sunday

Miss Margeret Brown Fablinger died at the home of her parents on Central Ave. Friday eve. after several months illness. She was a thorough christian and was especially interested in the Sunday school, She had a host of friends who loved her for her unselfishness and sweet disposition. It was a frequent expression among them that "Margaret was as good as gold". The funeral was held in the Congregational church Sunday afternoon, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev Geo. Atkinson, who paid a high tribute to the deceased. There was a wealth of floral offerings sent in by friends and fraternal organizations. A quartet composed of Miss Charlotte Davis, Miss Marion Duncan, A. V. Archibald and A Adam sang some beautiful hymns.

The burial was in the Saratoga Cemetery and the services were in charge of Stella Rebekah Lodge and the Fraternal Aid of which orders she was an honored member. The pall bearers were: F. Cutting, Will Ross, G. Parso, P. B. Payne, A. Adams, Roy Archibald.

Miss Fablinger was a native of Santa Clara County, Saratoga being her birthplace. She was 30 years, 3 months and two days old at the time of her death.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fablinger, sister of Mrs. Sadie Le Sueur, Mrs. J. C. Swane, Mary, Vera, Winnifred and James Fablinger, and a granddaughter of John Brown of Harpers Ferry fame.

Miss Fablinger was a graduate of the San Jose High School and of the San Jose Normal and had been engaged in teaching until about a year ago, when failing health caused her to give up the work.

FRATERNAL AID INITIATES FIVE NEW MEMBERS

Palm Leaf Council, No. 560, of the Fraternal Aid, held their regular meeting at I. O. O. F. Hall Saturday evening, Feb. 24.

The death of Sister Margaret Fablinger was reported, which elicited universal sympathy from all present.

Five new members were initiated.

The contest is arousing interest and bringing out members who have not been present for months also adding more points to the side they belong to than those who have been in regular attendance, consequently they are hailed with joy and given the glad hand when they show up.

By way of entertainment Mrs. Minnie Lewis favored the order with a comic reading which afforded those present a good laugh, after which they adjourned to the dining room, where light refreshments were served, which completed the evening's entertainment.

EMMA J. GARD, Reporter.

Orchard City Grange Meeting

Orchard City Grange held an unusally interesting meeting Tuesday eve. After listening to the reports of the different committees, the drill team, consisting of 16 ladies dressed in white went through with the initiation ceremony in the third and fourth degrees, with nine new members. The work was put on in beautiful form and was most pleasing to the large membership present. A short short recess followed in which there was a general hand shaking with the new members.

After recess the Lecturer announced that instead of the usual program there had been arranged a plant exchange. Each member having fruit or flowering plants that had been placed on the table which was then brought into the room. The plants were all numbered and a corresponding number placed in a box from which each member drew a number as they marched around the room to music furnished by the organist. When all had recieved their number they gathered around the table and hunted out their plants, which consisted of a great variety of choice flower and fruit plants, also some scion of the new fruit the "plumcot".

This change of program seemed to please all and everyone got something new in the way of plants. The march was then resumed and all repaired to the banquetroom, where good cheer and a social time prevailed until a late hour.

Secret of Influence.

Force, fervor, intensity—these are the qualities which have given their power to great leaders in all the movements by which the world has been swayed. Sometimes they have been present in men who left so little written memorial or whose efforts were foiled by adverse circumstances that we can note only the fact that they must have been remarkable because their contemporaries admired and followed them. They possessed the secret of influence, though we cannot tell how they manifested it. They are among the riddles of history.—Chambers' Journal.

Stars That Give Little Light.

Scattered through space are innumerable stars that give forth very little light or heat. Either they were never, at any period of their history, bright and glowing like the myriad stars that make the midnight sky so beautiful, or in the course of countless ages the heat they once possessed has radiated away from them into the depth of space, and now they are, as their name describes them, "dark stars."

Printing in China.

If reports are to be relied on, they had the art of printing in China "2,400 years ago." It was block printing, however, though it is said that they had something very like movable type in the middle of the tenth century. There may be some doubt as to the exact period, but there is no room for questioning the fact that for many centuries before it was known in Europe the art was well known in China.

Their Names Against Them.

We are believed to believe that Ananias left no descendants, but there were people so like him as to bear the name of Anania, or again Ananian. Their descendants have to bear the brunt of ancestral duplicity. So, Mr. Anacreonte may perhaps trace his descent back to the sweet Greek singer of women and wine. Not unlikely, as his greatest poetic brother, Pindar, also has sons.

Wood for Lead Pencils.

The annual output of lead pencils in this country is more 320,000,000. The cedar wood is used in making them weigh about 100,000 tons, and nearly three-fourths of a cent's worth of wood is required for each pencil. No other wood is so good for the purpose, and the timber is becoming scarce. Old cedar planks and fence rails now find a ready sale.

Point Possibly Overlooked.

A western man advertises for a wife, and stipulates that the woman must be the widow of a man who has been hanged. The inference is that he wants to show up well in comparison with her former husband, evidently overlooking the fact that not every man who deserves it is hanged.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Real Hard Luck.

Nobody can be said to be really down on his luck to the down downest degree until he has had presented to him a very valuable watch which every time it is repaired costs from $10 to $25. There's no place where the percentage system works so agonizingly as with the valuable watch owned by a poor man.

Idea Not Modern.

The brass paper fastener which is still used for thick documents was patented in 1867 by a government clerk by the name of G. W. McGill. Yet it was not new, for the Romans used a similar device 2,000 years ago and the modern appliance was a resurrection.

Unanswered.

"George," she asked, "if we were both young and single again would you want me to be your wife?" "Now, my dear," he absent-mindedly replied, "what's the use of trying to start a quarrel just as we have settled down to enjoy a quiet evening?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Just a Little Too Much.

A business man called his stenographer and dictated as part of a sentence "quasi public institutions." It came to him in typewritten form "cross eyed public institutions." He has a new stenographer.

For Private Telephone Service.

Many British business men are of the opinion that England would have a better telephone service if it were out of the government's hands.

Raisins as Staff of Life.

The life of Cuba is largely sustained by raisins, its people consuming the fruit more generally than any other of the Spanish-American colonies.

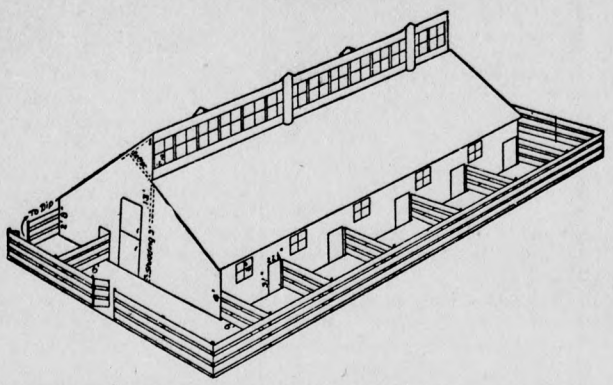
The Real Puzzle.

Father (impressively)—Suppose I should be taken away suddenly, what would become of you, my boy?

Irreverent Son—I'd stay here. The question is, What would become of you?—West Chester Critic.

MANY HOG HOUSES DEFICIENT IN SUNSHINE AND VENTILATION

No Building on Farm Pays for Itself so Quickly and Is Responsible to Great Extent for Small or Large Litters—Ingenious Method of Outside Pens Shown in Illustration.



A Well-Built and Well Arranged Hog House, Showing Arrangement of Outside Pens.

(By J. A. WARREN, Formerly Assistant Agriculturist, United States Department of Agriculture.)

On the average, the hog house is the poorest building on the farm and the least adapted to the purpose for which it was intended. Good barns may be seen on a large proportion of the farms, but are generally hard to find. It is economy to put up first the buildings that will help most to make money. A large portion of the farmers recognize this and build a good barn before putting up a good house, saying "the barn will help build the house but the house will never help building the barn." This principle seems to be lost sight of when it comes to the hog house, yet no other building on the farm pays for itself so quickly. Unpublished data collected by the writer show that good hog men average about seven pigs raised to the litter and many surpass this record. The same data indicate that the general average raised on the farm does not exceed four pigs to the litter. This wide difference is very largely due to the housing.

Many houses which cost enough to be good are thoroughly unfit for the purpose because the sun cannot shine into the pens. Nearly every large hog house is deficient in either sunshine or ventilation, or in both.

The illustration shows a house built by one of the most prominent Duroc breeders after careful study. It is a most serviceable structure and one of the best the writer has ever seen. It is one of the few hog houses that have proved so satisfactory that the owners are willing to duplicate them. This house has been copied by a number of farmers in the vicinity, some of whom, however, have made the mistake of building a longer house and not making provision for outside pens for the extra inside pens.

The walls are sheathed, papered, and sided. The roof is shingled. The outside floors on the east, west, and south are 6 feet wide. This house is 22 by 36 feet and contains ten pens. It was built north of Omaha in 1905 and cost, complete, including labor, $275, or $27.50 a pen. This includes the outside floor and pens.

The gates across the alley all lift off their hinges so they can be removed or replaced in a moment. This arrangement makes it very convenient in sorting hogs to change them from one pen to another or to make extra pens when crowded. When swung across the alley the free ends of the gates fasten with common house-door bolts. By putting these on so the knobs turn up instead of down, the owner finds that hogs can not open them. If the knobs turned down the hogs could open them readily. The fronts of the pens next the alley are all loose panels which lift out. In this way the whole house can be made into one large room in a few minutes, nothing but the pen partitions being left in place.

The inside pens are 7 by 8 feet, except the middle one on each side, which is 8 by 8 feet. (The pens are irregular in width because the lumber cut this way to better advantage.) The hog doors are 22½ by 31 inches in the clear. The large doors are 3 by 6 feet, divided in the middle. The upper windows each contain four 12 by 14 inch lights and are set solid and close together. The lower windows each contain four 10 by 12 inch lights.

The most striking feature of this house is the ingenious way in which outside pens have been provided without having them on the north side.

The ventilators are 6 by 6 inches inside. The lower ends are 2 feet above the floor and the upper ends just above the comb of the roof. The south rafters are extended to meet the north rafters so that no studding are needed under the south edge of the north roof. Whether this gives any advantage is doubtful. The sunshine will strike the floor in all pens several hours a day after March 1.

CRY OF "BACK TO THE LAND"

Experts Studying Out Problem of Why So Many City Bred Men Make Failure at Farming.

(By PROF. J. W. SPILLMAN.)

A special study of the equipment, management and income of a large number of small fruit and truck farms, many of them run by people who have recently come from the city, is being made by the office of farm management of the United States department of agriculture.

This study has given us somewhat a new point of view. In general these small farmers are not successful. This fact has led us to study the question more closely, and as a result a scheme for the management of a 40-acre farm is outlined which seems to be practicable.

The diagram shows a convenient scheme for subdividing forty acres to fit it for the cropping system outlined. It will be observed that the forty acres are divided into eight five-acre tracts. One of these is set aside for what may be called the "homestead." These five acres are at the center on one side, and it is supposed that a public road passes this side of the tract.

Of these five acres, half an acre is utilized for the house and yard and the barn and barn lot. This space is ample for what we have in view. One-half acre is devoted to garden, one and a half acres to orchard and the remaining two acres to a paddock, into which to turn the stock for exercise.

By judicious management these two acres can also be made to furnish some pasture and some soiling-crops. The other seven five-acre tracts are to be devoted to a seven year rotation.

When this rotation is in full swing, the crops on the farm for a given year are as follows: Field A, potatoes; field B, three acres of cabbage and two acres of onions; field C, corn; field D, cow-peas, field E, corn; field F, clover; field G, clover.

The next year each of these crops would move to another field as follows: The potatoes would go to field G, which was in clover the year before. The cabbage and onions next year would go to field A. The corn on field C would go the next year to field B. Cow-peas in field D would go the next year to field C. The corn in field E would go to D, while E would be sown in clover and F in clover.

The next year each crop would move to another field in the same manner, so that each year potatoes are sown after second-year clover, cabbage and onions are planted after potatoes, etc. Commercial fertilizers would be required for the potatoes, cabbages and onions.

The potatoes, cabbage and onions on this farm would form the market crops. The two fields of corn, the field of cow-peas and the first year's seeding of clover would furnish 20 acres of forage for the live stock, while the second year clover would furnish pasture for the live stock during the summer.

On each of the two cornfields some winter grain, such as wheat, rye, etc., could be sown early in August at the time when the corn is laid by, that is, when cultivation of the corn ceases. This wheat would furnish fall and winter pasture for the live stock.

In the cornfield, which is to be followed by clover, the wheat would be turned under early in the spring in preparation for sowing the clover. In the cornfield, which is to be followed by cow-peas the wheat could remain until the second year clover field is ready to turn the stock on, at which time it might be plowed up and sown to cow-peas. We thus have pasture during the whole year in sections where the seasons permit winter pasturing.

LUNCH AND DESSERT

GOOD THINGS THAT TAKE LITTLE TIME IN PREPARATION.

Chicken Cream and Women's Club Sandwiches Are Two Delicacies—With the Afternoon Cocoa Serve Fairy Puffs.

Chicken Cream Sandwiches—Chop a cup of white meat and a cup of celery, add a cup of rich milk, bring to the boiling point and thicken with cornstarch. When thick, add the beaten whites of two eggs, two tablespoons of butter, salt, pepper and lemon juice to taste. Turn into a mold and place on ice twelve hours. Slice thin and serve between thin slices of buttered bread.

Women's Club Sandwiches—Crush cream chees and moisten with fresh rich cream until the right consistency to spread. Add one-fourth the quantity of finely chopped olives, season with salt and paprika. Spread on sandwich bread, cover with cress, then with another slice of bread.

Celery Stuffed With Cheese (to be served with sandwiches)—Select tender, well-balanced stalks, cut into neat lengths of about three inches, leaving on the small blanched leaves. Work three tablespoons of butter to a cream, and add a tablespoon and a half of highly flavored cheese—Roquefort is excellent. Season with salt and a sprinkling of cayenne and paprika. Spread the mixture on the inside of the celery stalks. Serve on a bed of crushed ice.

Afternoon Cocoa—Scald a quart of milk in a double boiler. Mix three tablespoons of cocoa with one-fourth cup sugar, add enough boiling water to make it smooth, add another cup of hot water, and let boil one minute before adding to the milk. Beat briskly with a whisk when all is in the boiler, to prevent unsightly scum from rising. When ready to pour add a teaspoon of vanilla or almond extract. If it is for a company affair a teaspoon of beaten egg white may be placed on each cup of the cocoa.

Epicurean Dressing for Any Sort of Salad—Mix these dry ingredients first: One-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper, one tablespoon of chopped sweet red pepper, one tablespoon finely minced parsley. Now add two tablespoons tarragon or malt vinegar, four tablespoons salad or olive oil, and blend well.

Fairy puffs are nice to serve with hot cocoa or coffee. They must be used the day they are fried. Put three tablespoons of butter into a pint of hot water. When boiling, quickly stir in a half pint of pastry flour. Take from the fire and break in one egg, beat well, then add another egg, and so continue until four eggs have been used. Drop the pastry into boiling fat from the point of a spoon. They will puff wonderfully and turn a golden brown. Drain and sprinkle with cinnamon and powdered sugar. This same recipe makes the most delicious cream puffs, but they must be baked on oiled paper in a slow oven instead of being fried.

Cream of Celery Soup.

Wash a bunch of celery and cut into inch lengths. If you wish you may use for this the outer stalks of a large bunch of celery, keeping the white, crisp pieces for use on the table, uncooked. Cook the celery slowly in enough boiling salted water to cover it for three-quarters of an hour, or until it is tender; rub it through a colander. Have ready a quart of milk, heated and thickened, and proceed as directed for cream of spinach soup.

Rose Wafers.

Add gradually two cups of granulated sugar to one cup of butter; dissolve half a teaspoon of soda in half pint of sweet milk; add one teaspoon of rosewater and a few drops of cochineal; then add gradually one quart of sifted pastry flour. Turn large pans upside down, wipe the bottom clean, brush them over with butter and put mixture in a moderate oven. While still hot cut them into squares and lift them off the pan carefully.

Prune Pudding.

It melts in your mouth and is a real novelty.

One cup cooked prunes, unsweetened and chopped fine; one cup sugar; one cup chopped nuts; one-half cup milk; one tablespoon butter; one teaspoonful baking powder; three crackers rolled fine; one pinch salt; one teaspoonful vanilla. Bake in a buttered pan for about twenty minutes. Have oven at moderate heat. Serve hot.

Brightens the Carpet.

A teaspoonful of spirits of turpentine added to two gallons of warm water will restore the brightness to carpets that are dulled with dust. After sweeping the carpet thoroughly, wring a cloth out of the water and wipe the surface of the carpet, first against the grain and then with it.

This also prevents moths from eating away the nap of woolen carpets.

Simple Charlotte Russe.

Take dry sponge cake or, better still, some lady fingers, place in dish, whip a half-pint of cream until stiff, flavor with teaspoon (small one) vanilla and pile on the lady fingers (or cake) in a glass dish.

If you have any currant or grape jelly, drop a little on each one's portion when served.

AMUSING STORY BY MIZNER

Picks Up What He Supposed Was Young Lady's Glove, but It Was Her Bathing Suit.

Addison Mizner, in an address on menticulture, said in Chicago:

"Ours is a frivolous land, but it is nothing like so frivolous a land as Belgium. I'll never forget my first visit to the bathing beach at Ostend.

"On every side I saw young girls in boys' bathing suits—tight, flimsy, one-piece suits, sleeveless and skirtless. These young girls wore no stockings. As they sauntered to and fro on the white and sunlit beach, they looked—I frankly admit it—charming; but what a frivolous view of life, what a neglect of menticulture, their dress indicated."

Mr. Mizner smiled.

"A young lady, beautifully clad in a Poiret gown," he said, dropped something as she passed me on the Ostend sands. I picked it up and hurried after her.

"'Pardon, mademoiselle,' I said in my best French, 'but you have dropped your glove.'

"She took the tiny object, and, smiling and blushing, she replied:

"'Merci, monsieur; but this is not my glove, it is my bathing suit.'"

The End of the Honeymoon.

It was along toward the waning of the honeymoon that this dialogue took place:

"Are you sure that you love me as much as ever?"

"Perfectly sure."

"And you will never, never love anybody else?"

"Never, never."

"Is there anything you wouldn't do to make me happy?"

"Nothing within the bounds of reason."

"Aha! I thought so! You have begun to reason. The honeymoon is over."—Plain Dealer.

His Belated Confession.

"Father," asked the boy, "do you believe there is a cipher in Shakespeare's plays?"

"I didn't think so when I was a young man," said the old tragedian, pensively, "but I began to suspect it years ago, and now I know it. Yes, there's a cipher in Shakespeare, my boy—and I'm the ci

BIRDS WITH NERVE

IN CALIFORNIA THEY HAVE FREE AND EASY WAYS.

Annoy the Children and Steal Articles From Clotheslines—Gulls at the Seashore Are Wonderfully Tame and Sociable.

My first experience of the fearlessness of the California bird came to me at second hand, writes a correspondent of Suburban Life. It also came near getting a small boy into trouble. After we were settled in a little home the said small boy went to school on his bicycle, down a busy avenue, with street cars running to and fro constantly. Before he had made the journey many times the child came home one evening and said:

"I wish the birds would leave me alone."

"What birds?" I asked.

"Why, those little blackbirds you see around," he answered. "When I'm riding to school they come down and try to peck my hat off."

The child had always been a truthful child, but my faith in his veracity was shaken. I gently expressed a doubt, but the boy backed up his assertion vehemently.

"They do it every morning," he persisted, and I had to let it go at that.

Later on, in speaking of this particular breed of bird to a neighbor, the boy's statement was justified.

"Those little birds certainly are daring," said the neighbor. "I've seen them try to take a piece of bread or cake from a child's hand—and not such a small child, either. They don't seem to have the ordinary fear of mortals, probably because they are never molested here in the city."

One morning, going out to the front door, I found a caller. He was a tiny fellow, riding a tricycle.

"Hello!" he said.

"Hello!" I answered. "What's your name?"

"Henry," was the reply. "I live over there," pointing to a house some distance across a vacant lot, and on another street.

"And what are you doing so far away from home?" I asked.

"I want my little sister's shoe. It's in your yard."

"How did it get in our yard?"

"A bird took it off my mamma's clothesline and brought it over."

And sure enough a search of the yard disclosed the little white shoe, which the bird had pulled from the line and brought over to us. The boy's mother had seen the feathered thief, and watched it till it dropped its booty in our back yard.

The tameness of the gulls at the seashore is another source of wonder and delight. When we go to the beach we save the scraps of our luncheon and use them as a coaxer for the gulls. Sitting on the sand, piece by piece the scraps are thrown around us, and by and by we have a circle of the beautiful and graceful birds, all on the alert for another piece, but equally on the alert for the approach of anything which might be called an enemy.

At last, when they have found out that no aggressive move is made, the creatures will approach, almost within reach of our hands. On the piers where people are fishing, the gulls will sit in rows, waiting for a chance at discarded bait or fish. People pass constantly to and fro near them, but they show no fear. Rules regarding their protection are very strict, and perhaps this is why they have learned to be so fearless.

In some localities in the city's outskirts telephone and other wires will be covered for a block or more with small birds. What they find to eat in the city is a problem, but they thrive. Some of them are beautiful songsters, and all seem to have cultivated a friendly and fearless disposition.

When Women Were Knighted.

It is not at all well known that knighthood has constantly been conferred upon women. Many English ladies received the accolade, and many more were members of such knightly orders as the Garter and St. John. When Mary Cholmondeley, "the bold lady of Cheshire," was knighted by Elizabeth for "her valiant address" on the Queen taking command at the threatened invasion by Spain, did she know that a whole city of Spanish women, the gallant women of Tortosa, had been knighted for saving that city from the Moors? Mary and Elizabeth had both been knighted at their coronation, but by the time Anne, the second Mary, and Victoria ascended the throne it had been quite forgotten that, according to English law and use, a woman who filled a man's office acquired all its privileges and was immune from none of its duties.

Underrated Man.

Victor Hemery, the noted French racing automobilist, was praising an American automobile.

"I don't know why it should be so unpopular," he said. "Perhaps it isn't advertised enough. At any rate, it is a very much underrated machine."

Adjusting his racing goggles he smiled.

"It reminds me of the man whose wife called to her little son one cold winter night:

"'Tommy, go bring me up the bedwarmer.'

"Tommy, without leaving his comfortable seat before the clanking radiator, shouted downstairs:

"'Father, mother wants you!'"

REMARKABLE KIND OF NERVE

Man Could Wear Frock Coat and Silk Hat Without Appearing to be a Bit Self-Conscious.

"That man surely has nerve."

"Brave, eh?"

"I should say so."

"What's happened? Did he tackle a burglar in the dark?"

"No; not that."

"Stopped a runaway horse?"

"Nothing like that."

"Had four teeth pulled without taking gas?"

"Rescued somebody from a burning building, then?"

"No."

"Then for goodness sake what is it that makes you think he has courage and nerve?"

"He can wear a frock coat and a silk hat without appearing self-conscious."

Clover and skim milk are almost indispensable in the ration of the growing pig.

Irreverence.

You know how it is when a man grows fat and the rolls of fat at the back of his neck are sort of piled one above the other, until stopped by the base of his skull. Well, a man with the rear of his neck disposed that way was sitting at the theater one evening in a seat just in front of one who isn't reverent.

The latter contemplated the exuberant layers of flesh surmounting the fat man's collar. Then, pointing to them, he remarked, sotto voce, to the companion beside him:

"Look at the plate of buckwheat cakes!"

GRIM STORY OF MISSIONARY

Converted Dyak, Forced by Sweetheart to Hunt Heads, Brought Those of Her Relatives.

The missionary lighted a fresh cigar.

"Yes," he said, "I have seen grim happenings in my time. The grimmest, I suppose, occurred among the Dyak head hunters.

"We had converted a young Dyak, and the lad had abandoned head hunting forever. But he met a girl, a beautiful girl, and then—"

The missionary shook his head and sighed.

"The girl listened to his wooing, for he was a handsome lad, but smoked heads to a Dyak maid are what jewels are to a chorus girl, and with a curl of the lip she said:

"'You vow you love me, but you bring me no heads to prove it.'

"'But I am a Christian,' he replied.

"'When did a Dyak wooer ever go a-wooing without heads?' said she. 'You are not a man; you are a girl!'

"The young convert ground his teeth and left her. The next morning early he staggered into her presence with bloodshot eyes. There was a bag on his shoulder.

"'You asked for heads,' he said. 'Look!'

"And he emptied from the bag onto the floor the heads of her father and her two brothers!"

The missionary smiled sadly.

"That wasn't playing the game," he said. "It's the heads of enemies that the head hunter must bring in, not the heads of one's own brother tribesmen. They shut the young convert in a slatted cage of bamboo to starve to death. He died under his sweetheart's eye."

Had a Kick Coming.

W. H. Crane was very angry the other day.

"What is the matter?" asked an acquaintance.

"Just ran into a man I used to know out west."

"But what of that?"

"He had a lady with him, too," continued Mr. Crane, his anger rising.

"Well?"

"The darn fool introduced me as Mr. Stork."

Most Furs Wear Long With Care.

Most furs are durable, experts say, and will last for a long time if guarded from moths, high temperatures and spring sunshine. A less durable fur is broadtail, as it is taken from young animals. Chinchilla and ermine are also delicate, both in color and texture, and should be carefully treated. Places that make a specialty of storing furs keep them at a uniform winter temperature.

Marriage a Failure?

The statisticians inform us that there is an increasing tendency toward divorce, but the very worst divorce tables show that 12 couples out of every 100 get divorced within 20 years of the marriage day. But only look at this statement from another angle. There are 88 couples who do not get divorced. And so, is marriage a failure? Hardly!

PERSIAN LORE ABOUT ROSE

Nightingale Sings His Frenzied Love for that Flower and Dies Beneath Rosebush.

Persian legendary lore tells some fanciful stories about the rose which have great poetic charm. For example, the poet Attar wrote "The Book of the Nightingale," telling how all the other birds appeared in anger before the throne of Solomon, asking him to destroy the nightingale, which would not allow them to rest by night, but poured forth its lays when peaceful silence should rein all over the earth. After prolonged argument the bird was acquitted, for it explained with such pathos that its untimely melody could not be restrained because of its frenzied love for the rose, a passion so hopeless and undying that it could never be made voiceless. Another Persian belief is that nightingales always die beneath rose bushes, stupefied by the scent. Jamie, a Persian poet, wrote of how "the first rose appeared in Gulistan at the time the flowers demanded a new sovereign from Allah, because the drowsy lotus would slumber at night. At first the maiden queen blossom was shown white, and encircled with a protecting guard of thorns, but the poor nightgale fell into such an ecstasy of love over her charms, and so recklessly pressed his lovelorn heart against those cruel thorns, that his blood, so far as it could trickle into the flower's bosom, dyed it crimson."

Another fancy states that the Perfume of the rose was gained from a cup of nectar thrown over it by the little god Cupid, while its thorns were those stings of bees used by him as arrows in his wrath at finding some roses scentless after all his trouble.

The beds of the Shahs of Persia in ancient times were filled with rose petals, which had to be often scattered lest they become uncomfortable. This must surely have been the origin of the saying: "He would complain of a bed of roses." It was also claimed that a rose liquor would "by one glassful make the sternest monarch merciful or the sickliest mortal slumber amid his pains."

The rose is emblematical of joy and love, and was consecrated to Venus, the goddess of beauty, from whose path it was said to have first sprung. Crimson roses, "gemmed with dewdrops," formed the crowning garland of the Romans' youthful Comus, god of feasting, and the Turks believed it absolutely wicked to step on a rose petal or leave it lying on the ground.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Why Bayona Played Badly.

Juan Antonio Bayona played the trombole badly the other night at the performance in a Madrid theater. The soprano was singing and Bayona's discordant notes disturbed her and the audience as well. Disturbed most of all was the conductor of the orchestra. He demanded an explanation and got it.

As Bayona was entering the theater that evening his cigar fell from its holder. In stooping to pick up the cigar his eye fell on a newspaper clipping. He picked that up also, and this is what he read:

"A rich Spanish merchant has just died in California, leaving a fortune of $200,000,000. In his will he appoints his brother, Juan Antonio Bayona, sole executor. Inquiries made at the consulate only prove that Juan Antonio Bayona lived in Valencia until 1882 and married in Madrid in 1884, where he died in 1901."

Juan A. Bayona, the trombonist, is the son of Juan A. Bayona, who answered the description in the clipping. Hence the agitation that produced the trouble with the trombone.

Educational Progress.

In the decade 1900-1910 greater progress was made in educational conditions in the United States than in any previous 10 years in the country's history. The report of the Federal bureau of education shows that the annual expenditures for public schools increased from $220,000,000 to $425,000,000, appropriations for Normal schools from $2,769,000 to $6,620,000, and the value of school property from $550,000,000 to over $1,000,000,000. Public High schools increased from 6,000 to 10,213, their teachers from about 20,000 to over 41,000, and enrolled High school pupils from 520,000 to 900,000.

The average length of the common school term increased from 144 to 156 days, and the average attendance of pupils from 99 to 114 days.

An advance from $166,175,000 to $273,425,000 was made in the productive fund of universities, colleges and technical schools, and from $28,500,000 to $77,800,000 in their annual income outside of endowments.

His Luncheons.

"Perseverance, pluck, self-denial," said Mr. Pulsifer, "those are the qualities that bring Maine boys success.

"It was a Maine boy in Paris—he is a successful sculptor today—who was sought out in his garret in the Rue Boissonade by a rich friend who wished to invite him to a New Year's luncheon.

"The rich friend, who hadn't yet decided on the hour for the luncheon, said:

"'I don't know whether to set it for 12 o'clock or 1. By the way, old chap, when do you lunch as a rule?'

"'Thursdays,' said the Maine boy.

SECRETS OF TOAST-MAKING

Cut Bread Night Before so That Surface Is Dry Before It Is Toasted.

The secret of having crisp toast is to cut the bread the night before, so that the surface is dry before it is toasted. Another trick is to have the slices, when toasted, stood up on edge in some place where they can be kept hot until they are served. If the slices are placed one on top of the other they become soggy.

For toast that is to be used as the foundation for poached eggs, mushrooms or any creamed food, half an inch is the correct thickness, hot water is distributed over it evenly with a small spoon, and melted butter spread on with a bristle brush, which comes for the purpose. People who dislik the softness produced by this treatment can, of course, preserve the crispness of the toast by omitting the hot water Often when bread is very stale, it may be steamed a little before it is toasted; otherwise it is so hard that ever the best of teeth rebel at it. Housekeepers who do not possess ancient silver toast racks have been heard to say that these only act as coolers for the slices they hold, and that they are not desirable at all. On the other hand, a covered toast dish holds the heat and steams the slices to sogginess in a short time. The surest way to have perfect toast seems to be to dispense with the ancient formalities and take to ultra-modern inventions, such as the electric toaster, which stands on the table at milady's elbow and makes the toast "while you wait."

Out-Romancing Romance.

The diver prowls over the ocean bed bearing a water-tight searchlight and a water gun, one shot from which will blow the liver out of an octopus.

His helmet telephone (more convenient and clear than yours) keeps him in constant communication with the surface and directs his boat.

Science has equipped him with a kit of deep-sea tools, operated by pneumatic pressure, with which he can accomplish prodigious amounts of work. Altogether, he has a very comfortable and interesting time of it.

Unimaginative romance! How weak and short are threads of your fancy.—Woman's World.

Sponge Rings with Fruit.

Make a sponge cake by using two eggs, half cup of sugar, half cup of flour and half teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in a ring mold. Serve by removing from the mold and into the center piling cut oranges, or oranges and bananas. This may be served with foamy sauce, made as follows: One cup of milk, two tablespoons of butter, half cup of sugar, one tablespoon of cornstarch, one egg. Moisten the cornstarch in a small portion of milk. Scald the remainder, stir in the cornstarch and add the butter. Beat the white of the egg until stiff and fold into the custard carefully.

San Francisco, Feb. 26.—Many methods of teaching business correspondence have been tried in the commercial schools of the country, but with only fair success. The plan of giving instruction and practice in this subject now used by the Heald Business Colleges is far superior to any other method heretofore adopted. The students of these schools are required to write business letters in connection with the actual business practice work that is carried on among the Heald Colleges. They learn to do by doing.

It contains the platforms of all the existing political parties, brief biographies of all the prominent political leaders, statistics relating to the internal revenue, congressional debates on the tariff question, together with—what's your hurry?"

Forte.

It was the most exciting moment of one of those midnight rehearsals. Try as he would, Donald Brian, the actor, could not induce the orchestra to play sufficiently loud for a smashing finale. Finally in desperation he called out to the orchestra conductor: "Swell! Vicars, Swell!" Whereat the phlegmatic, unruffled English conductor stopped the band, turned smilingly to Mr. Brian and said: "Thank you, sir."

Stimulate Children?

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Then ask him about Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a strong and safe tonic for the young. Not a drop of alcohol in it.

Always keep a box of Ayer's Pills in the house. Just one pill at bedtime, now and then, will ward off many an attack of biliousness, indigestion, sick-headache. How many years has your doctor known these pills? Ask him all about them.

Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Mere Details.

A writer was describing a forthcoming work of his. He spoke most enthusiastically of the progress he had made on it.

The idea, he said, was clear in his mind—clear as crystal. All the situations were sketched out, everything that was to happen in each chapter decided upon. Why, even the titles of the chapters were written!

Just as he was riding astride the high-water mark of his enthusiasm one of those clammy, literal friends that all men have suddenly remarked:

"I see. You have everything about that novel completed except the writing and the selling of it."

Fitting His Head.

A round faced, good natured looking man stepped up to the box office window recently and said:

"Do you think you could fit my head with the proper kind of a seat?"

"Your head?" said the perplexed ticket seller. "What do you mean?"

As an answer the man lifted his hat and laughed. His head was absolutely bald.

"Sure!" said the ticket man. Then he sold the patron a seat in the front row.

Thousands of country people know that in time of sudden mishap or accident Hamlins Wizard Oil is the best substitute for the family doctor. That is why it is so often found upon the shelf.

Heredity.

Some very pretty things are being said, for no special reason whatever, about genealogy and heredity. Naturally this is associated with the names and life of what is called the "nobility." Yet no commentator has quoted the couplet of Pope, which reads rawly that "His ancient but ignoble blood has crept through scoundrels ever since the flood."

Stereotyped Answer.

The Professor—And to what is the cause of the fire which destroyed ancient Rome attributed? The Student (promptly)—To the careless handling of a cigarette. The Professor—Eh! Why, there were no cigarettes at that time! The Student (hopelessly)—Well, I never heard of a fire starting from any other cause.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Billy Hobson, the Proudest Storekeeper in San Jose

The other day the writer dropped into the store of Billy Hobson, the popular San Jose clothier, to look over Billy's store and to get an idea of "what is to be what" in men's clothes for spring and summer.

Billy is about the proudest storekeeper in San Jose, and if the writer had not literally pulled himself away Billy would have had him there yet.

Billy's wardrobes are packed from end to end with new suits. And by the way, these wardrobes are somewhat of a novelty in themselves. They make it possible to put four times as many suits in a given space than can be crowded in when they are merely piled on tables, in the old way. And every suit is kept in perfect shape. Besides, every suit is readily available, and one salesman can do the work of several. Billy claims this is one of the reasons why he can sell better clothes for the money than any other store in town. He's probably right, too.

Now is the Time to Spray for Thrips

Paul R. Jones, of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology, says:

The season is so far advanced, due to the dry, warm weather, that all orchardists intending to use distillate oil emulsion and tobacco extract should start spraying immediately.

Thrips have been emerging since February 1, and in large numbers the past week. They will continue to come out in numbers the next ten or twelve days, but spraying should start immediately before all the thrips enter the fruit buds and make spraying very difficult.

Many prune orchards throughout the valley show thrips within the fruit buds or on the twigs waiting to enter the buds.

The season is not early in comparison with the years 1909 and 1910, but normal. Our climatic conditions have not been so favorable this year as in 1911, and this season bids fair to be a bad thrips year.

I therefore urge every grower to do thorough spraying with a 3 per cent distillate oil emulsion combined with black leaf 40, 1-2000; or blackleaf, 1-100. For a 200-gallon spray tank 10 to 11 gallons of the emulsion should be used and 12.8 fluid ounces of the blackleaf 40, or two gallons of the blackleaf. The spraying should be done thoroughly using four or five gallons per tree at about 200 pounds pressure. The day of experimenting is past. Get busy.

Low Round Trip Rates East This Summer

Mr. Chas. S. Fee, Passenger Traffic Manager, Southern Pacific Company, acting as Chairman of a Committee of the various trans-continental lines entering California, today announces dates for excursions to the East this summer, together with the rates for these excursions. The rates in all important cities, Chicago and west, are based on the one-way 30 day rates, or one fare for the round trip, while rates to points east of Chicago show a slight addition to the one-way rate for the round trip.

All tickets will bear going transit limit of 15 days and will be good returning until October 31st, 1912. Liberal stopovers will be allowed going and returning. While these reduced rates are made primarily for Eastern conventions, tickets may be purchased by anyone. These rates give an excellent opportunity for Eastern people who have located in California to visit their old homes in the east at low cost. Native Sons who know only the west may visit eastern cities and the numerous resorts in the middle west and Atlantic Coast. Tickets may be purchased going one way and returning the same or any other route, and at moderate additional cost may travel in one direction via Portland or Seattle and Victoria and northern routes. The limit of tickets for return trip gives plenty of time to make European tours in connection with these tickets.

The dates on which these low rate excursion tickets will be sold as follows:

To Minneapolis and St. Paul and return April 25, 26 and 27. Round trip rate $73.50 from all main line points over direct lines.

On the dates set forth below, round trip tickets will be sold to the following destinations and return at the rates shown opposite each: Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo $55.00; Omaha, Kansas City and Houston $60.00; St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans $70.00. St. Paul and Minneapolis $73.50; New York and Philadelphia $108.50. Washington and Baltimore $107.50; Boston $110.50; Toronto $95.70; Montreal $108.50; Chicago $72.50. These tickets will be sold good to start on any of the following dates: May 3, 4, 9 to 19 inclusive, 29 and 30; June 6, 7, 8, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 24, 25, 27, 28, 29; July 1, 2, 3, 15, 16, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30, 31; August 1 to 7 inclusive, 21, 23, 24, 29, 30, 31; September 4 to 8 inclusive, 11, 12.

Signs of Spring

With the first days of gladdening Spring when every clod was "astir with might" and all nature is bursting into renewed life, we associate the coming of the birds. They fill the air with music to cheer the downhearted, and they busy themselves with their alotted tastes with vigor and earnstness to put to shame the drone and the sluggard. We have these merry little songsters all about us, from them we may learn many valuable and helpful lessons. We have those that come to us in the delightful balmy days and make their home with us but a few months, going hither and thither at will; we have those that are with us throughout the entire year, always contented in this genial climate "so warmed by the sun's bright circle". We have the wild and the tame, one as busy as the other, and both teaching us the great lesson of being happy at our work and of being loyal to each other. But of all these tiny winged creatures, perhaps the ones of which we are the most fond are the tame canaries with their beautiful and prolonged songs.

And one who wishes to have his drooping spirits revived need but make a visit to a neat little aviary on second street and listen for a time to the thirty or more little yellow workers and merry-makers. For about eight years this aviary has occupied the present location.

The observant visitor will no doubt see perched on a near by tree a "pretty polly" keeping guard as it were, that can say pretty things and also others that would not sound as well should one attempt to molest her dainty charges.

High Cost of Living

The complaint of the cost of high living is thus ably discussed by the Hanford Journal: "Cut out this scream of 'high cost of living' and get down to earth. The high cost of a spendthrift career is what is burning the liver and the lights out of the American population When a man spends $2 a day for non-essentials and growls because he has to pay 45 cents a pound for butter that will last his table for a week he ought to be kicked into Kingdom Come. The butter is essential; and so is meat and bread. His tobacco and liquor bill, and his amusement bill added, with suppers and wine on the side, are, of course, relegated out of sight when he figures up the surplus he owes at the end of the month. Then the woman who wears a $20 hat and has to buy a new gown every time that there is card party has no kick coming about the price of gloves and rats".

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Santa Clara, State of California.

In the Matter of the Estate and Guardianship of William Lloyd Gardner, Dorette E. M. Gardner and Roy R. Gardner, Minors.

Order to Show Cause why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should Not Be Made.

It appearing to the said Court, by the verified petition this day presented and filed by George W. Gardner, the guardian of the persons and estates of William Lloyd Gardner, Dorette E. M. Gardner and Roy R. Gardner, minors, praying for an order of sale of real estate, that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate to pay the debts of said minors and the expenses of administration of said estates.

It is therefore ordered by the said Court, that the next of kin of said minors, and all persons interested in the estates of said minors, appear before the said Superior Court on Friday, the 8th day of March, A. D., 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the Court room of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the City of San Jose, in the County of Santa Clara, to show cause why such an order should not be granted to the said guardian to sell so much of the real estate of the said minors as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for four successive weeks in the Campbell Interurban Press, a newspaper printed and published in said County.

P. F. GOSBEY,
Dated January 30, 1912. Superior Judge.

The Question of Glasses

Are they needed or not?

The question is easily answered by those who can't see well without them, but for a great many who see well and still suffer from the effect of eye-strain it can only be decided after a careful examination. Such an examination I am prepared to give you, and an honest opinion as to what is needed. No operation. No drugs. No glasses unless necessary.
